AutoProc
Academic Software License

This is an academic right-to-use license for the program package AutoProc (the Software) copyright, 2002 by M. Bayro, M.C. Baran, G.T. Montelione, and Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, for referencing, processing, and analysis of NMR data. The program package includes source and executable computer code for the AutoProc software and documentation. By accepting and using a copy of this software, you and your institution agree to license this Software from Rutgers according to the following terms:

1) You are granted non-exclusive, non-transferable license to use the Software at a single site for internal non-commercial research purposes only (License). Use includes storing, loading, installing, executing, using, or displaying the software. This license will terminate automatically if you transfer, or disclose, any part of the software to anyone else.

2) The Software and all associated copyrights remain the property of M. Bayro, M.C. Baran, G.T. Montelione, and Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, this software License confers no interest or title in the software. Rutgers retains all rights to enforce its ownership interest in the software.

3) You may only make copies of the software for archival or back-up purposes or when copying is an essential step in authorized use. In any copy you will reproduce copyright notices of Rutgers. The software may not be copied onto any bulletin board, computer server, or otherwise made publicly available by you or your institution.

4) No disassembly, decryption, decompilation or other adaptation of the software is allowed. Neither you, nor anyone at your institution, may modify the software unless written permission is first given by Rutgers.

5) You may not use for commercial services, rent, lease, or otherwise commercially profit from use of the software, which is made available for educational and research purposes to you and your institution, and will maintain appropriate records relating to its use.

6) You accept the software as is. Neither Rutgers nor the authors warrant the software for any particular use or purpose and will not be held liable for any use you make of the software. This License in no way affects any rights that the US Government may have in the software and you may be responsible if you export the software in violation of any applicable laws or regulations.

7) The term of this License is Three (3) years. This license may be terminated by Rutgers at any time if you fail to comply with any of these terms and conditions. Upon termination you must destroy all copies of the software including any authorized modifications, adaptation or merged portions in any form.

This license requires the signature of an authorized institutional officer.

I, _____, hereby agree to the above software license agreement.
  (print name of authorized signatory)

Signature: _____ Date: _____
              (authorized institutional official)

AutoProc Software License Registration Form

(must be typed, not hand-written)

First name of Principal Investigator: _____

Last name of Principal Investigator: _____

First name of Authorized Institutional Official: _____

Last name of Authorized Institutional Official: _____

Official Institutional Title: _____

Institution: _____

Address: _____

_____

City: _____

State/Province: _____   Zip Code: _____

Country: _____

Phone of Principal Investigator: _____   Fax: _____

E-mail of Principal Investigator: _____

For downloading software and receiving support email, please fill out the following, if different from above:

Primary Contact: _____

Contact Email: _____

Please mail or fax a signed copy of this license agreement and registration form back to:

Gaetano T. Montelione
Center for Advanced Biotechnology and Medicine
679 Hoes Lane
Piscataway, NJ 08854-5638
(732) 235-5321 voice
(732) 235-5633 fax