

ICSG 2004

June 2004

Dear ICSG Corporate Partner,

The International Conference on Structural Genomics (ICSG) cosponsored by the International Structural Genomics Organization, the Protein Structure Initiative and the National Institutes of Health, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services is holding its third conference on November 17-21, 2004. The ICSG is dedicated to promoting worldwide cooperation and collaboration in structural genomics. The Conference has served as a highly respected forum for scientists in the field of structural genomics. Our delegates are committed individuals who take the time to further their education through cutting edge science presented in our plenary and poster sessions and to take advantage of networking opportunities with their peers. They are comprised of some of the most prominent academic and industrial scientists in the world.

A distinguished list of plenary session speakers has already been confirmed. They include:

- Stephen Burley, Structural Genomix, Inc., USA
- Chris Dobson, University of Cambridge, UK
- Brian Matthews, University of Oregon, USA
- Dino Moras, IGBMC, France

We are proud of not just our specialty's accomplishments, but also of the significant role that industry has played in advancing the world of structural genomics. Sponsorship is a valuable marketing tool. Toward that end, we want to offer your organization the opportunity to participate in the Conference as one of the following types of supporters:

- Platinum – Contributions of $15,000 to $19,999
- Gold – Contributions of $ 10,000 to $14,999
